Having the chance to interact with others;

Having the opportunity to visit a popular attraction;

Having the autonomy to decide where and when to go.

Gunther Von-Strausseltaub was a scientist of international fame. His latest mission was to head up a team on an intergalactic flight to catch a peculiar life form from the planet Zoub 45398. Here, he had discovered, these creatures had showed no external signs of getting old. He was hoping that by collecting samples, he could conduct an autopsy to discover an anti-ageing substance. He had already created an intermediate version which slowed getting old and now he just needed the last integer in his code to STOP ageing all together.

On the morning of the mission, Dr Von-Strausseltaub sprayed on his antiperspirant before he pulled on his antigravity suit, ready to make his place in history.
